

Jo Ann Nelson Workshop

From Nature to Abstract

Saturday, October 5th, at WRCMA from 9AM – 3 PM

Fee for workshop - $50.00

I am an Acrylic – Mixed Medium Artist, who is always on the lookout for a situation, an object or form in nature that stimulates the creative process. I rely heavily on an emotional attachment to that source as my topic to create a body of work. I use many different materials and techniques to create truth as I see it and, in the end, make sure that it is archival. In my creation, whether representational or abstract, there is simplicity, a balance of shapes, form color and texture. I intentionally depict the contours of an object, with shapes and swirls of color and texture to create an essence rather than a likeness.

I endeavor to create a bridge where a flow of information can traverse the space between me and another individual. I wish to challenge and stimulate others to see more tomorrow than they see today.

Each artist can bring a photo that they would like to use as an inspiration for a painting or they may use mine.

this is the supply list:

1. acrylic paints are preferred but others may work.
2. Canvas or Masonite board 16 x 20 or larger (2 if you are a fast worker)
3. paint brushes of various sizes
4. water container
4. table covering
5. Elmer's Glue all
6. white tissue Paper
7. Food to share for lunch, or take one hour break for lunch
