Lucky Artist

Our Lucky Artist for June was Karyn Hartney. Karyn is pictured with her watercolor painting titled 'Tranquility'.

Karyn was born in Chicago's Lincoln Park neighborhood, then moved at the age of three to Chesterton, Indiana.

There she was surrounded by the woodlands and Indiana dunes, from which she still finds influence her art. She and her husband moved to Golden, Colorado in 2011 where she still resides.

Karyn's mother was an artist and had her doing art at an early age.

She stayed with it and made art her profession. She graduated from the American Academy of Art with a degree in Advertising and Design. There she also took watercolor from Irving Shapiro, who was the director of the school and a watercolor instructor. He was one of the top 10 artists in AWS at the time. Irving Shapiro is one of the artists she most admires as well as Richard Schid and T.C. Steele.

Karyn's best art tip for you is – 'Be daring and take risks with the brush! Try new techniques and colors that you may not be familiar with and let the brush guide you. You may be surprised with what you come up with. If not, it's just a piece of paper.'
